'Runt' Bishop Quits State Planning Post

No Indication of Successor; Had Been In Controversy with Advisory Board

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — C. W. (Runt) Bishop, chief of the state Division of Industrial Planning and Development, has resigned his post effective Jan. 1.

Gov. Stratton's office announced the resignation Wednesday. Thus far there has been no indication when a successor will be named, or who Bishop's replacement will be.

Stratton's office quoted Bishop as saying there had been some "disension" in the division, and he felt he could "better serve the state in some other capacity."

Bishop is a former Republican congressman from Carterville, and was appointed to head the division May 1. He has been involved in a lengthy controversy with the division's advisory board.

One member of the board reported in September that the group had twice made "unanimous requests" that Bishop be relieved of his post as head of the division. Bishop, Kankakee, Richard Nowinson, Chicago, has since become chairman.

When the disagreement between the division chief and his advisory board was brought to the attention of Stratton in September he dismissed it as a "departmental matter," and referred questions concerning it to Registration and Education Director Vera M. Binks.

The division was created by the 1955 Legislature as part of an effort to attract new industry to Illinois. It is set up within the Registration and Education Department.

The advisory board members felt the division was making no progress under Bishop's direction and was only "marking time."

Bishop also was heavily criticized during the 1957 legislative session when debate came up on a bill which included a salary increase for the division head.

Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton) charged Bishop's appointment was the worst ever made by Stratton and that Republicans agreed that he was a poor choice for the post.

The salary increase bill, however, was passed by a narrow margin.

Bishop was named to the post to succeed Fred Falkenstein, Belvidere, who resigned because of illness. Falkenstein was the division's first chief.

Cold Weather Sweeps Into Dixie; See Relief for Midwest Areas

Stevenson Ends Advisory Task With State Dep't

Feels Administration Lacks Urgency in Dealing with Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson headed back to Illinois today feeling his treatment by President Eisenhower and his staff was casual to downright cool.

Not so at the State Department, however, where Stevenson found a welcome mat out from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Stevenson took an office at the State Department Nov. 18 to help administration planning for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "summit" conference. He was invited by Dulles with Eisenhower's blessing.

Has Finished Job
The two-time Democratic presidential nominee concluded his task Wednesday with a long conference with Dulles. He made no comment after the meeting but is known to feel the administration lacks a "sense of urgency" in meeting the Soviet challenge.

There is considerable evidence a Dec. 3 White House conference between Eisenhower and Stevenson, their first in four years, failed to heal 1952 and 1956 campaign wounds.

Stevenson came away with mixed emotions. He said the President said he would be happy to have Stevenson go to the NATO meeting in Paris. Asked whether the President had "invited" him to go, however, Stevenson replied offhand:

"I don't know whether I've been invited or not."

The White House said later he had been invited.

Declined to Attend
Still later the same day Stevenson said he would not go to Paris unless "compelling" reasons arose.

As he donned his brown hat and gray coat to leave today, Stevenson was not 100 per cent opposed to administration policies. Generally however he was far from happy about administration reaction to the twin challenges of Russia's Sputnik and economic warfare.

His opinion, expressed to Dulles, is that the "Hottest war right now is the cold war." He believes there is lack of imagination, initiative and action in Washington today.

Right now Stevenson is heading back to his law practice in Chicago.

Test Pilot is Killed in Crash

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force opened an investigation today into the air collision of a KC-135 jet tanker and a T-33 jet trainer which brought death to a test pilot.

A spokesman said Daniel J. Veronica, Lancaster, Calif., was killed when his training plane spun away from a collision with the tanker and crashed on Rosemond Dry Lake Wednesday.

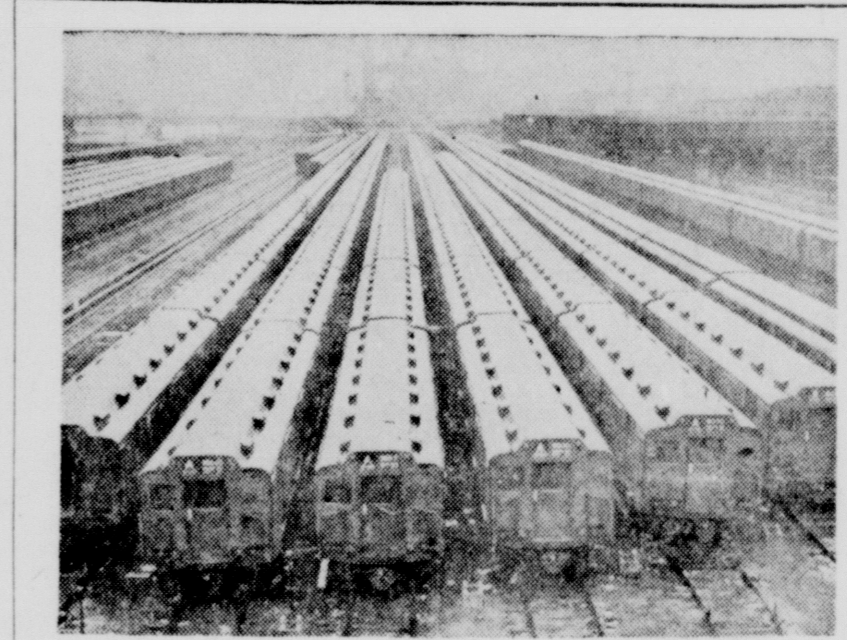

The refueling craft was badly damaged but Maj. James P. Seigler, the pilot, managed to bring the big plane back to this desert test center and land it safely. There were five persons aboard.

A public information officer said no other details of the crash would be released until later today.

Veronica, a test pilot with Bell Aircraft, was undergoing flight test schooling.

John Zeigler Is Critically Hurt in Auto Accident

Companion is Killed in Wreck in Northeast Missouri

A Harrisburg young man was critically injured and his companion killed in an automobile wreck in northeast Missouri Wednesday night.

John Zeigler, 18, HTHS graduate with the class of 1957, is a patient in Kohns hospital, Kirksville, Mo., suffering from head injuries a cut around one eye and possible internal injuries.

With young Zeigler, and apparently instantly killed, was Robert Thomas Hutchinson, 18, of Hammond, Ind.

The accident occurred about 8.15 p. m. Wednesday on Highway 15, nine miles south of Memphis, Mo., county seat of Scotland County, according to information from Sheriff O. M. Orton, who with members of the Missouri Highway Patrol, investigated the accident.

Sheriff Orton said the investigation indicated Zeigler lost control of the automobile, a 1957 Chevrolet 4-door hardtop, the car leaving the highway and hitting a tree. The sheriff said the accident happened on a stretch of highway near a curve and hill but that the highway was dry and no other cars were involved.

It is understood that Zeigler, who is employed in Hammond, Ind., and Hutchinson, on leave from the Navy, had been visiting relatives. Zeigler was visiting his grandmother in Kirksville and Hutchinson had been at the home of his grandparents.

John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Logsdon, are with him at the hospital in Kirksville, having left Harrisburg about midnight after receiving word of the accident.

Temperatures Drop in Georgia And Alabama

Florida Farmers Hope Citrus Crops Will Be Saved

By United Press
The coldest weather of the season spilled out of the north into Dixie today, with freezing temperatures invading every southern section except parts of Florida and Texas.

Sub-zero readings prevailed for the second straight night from Minnesota across most of the northern Great Lakes. However, weathermen said a warming trend today would bring some relief to the Midwest.

The South felt the full brunt of the frigid air mass overnight, with temperatures in the teens registered as far south as northern Alabama and Georgia early today and in the 20s along the Gulf Coast.

Readings plunged below freezing in northern Florida, dipping to 27 at Cross City, but farmers hoped the state's 350-million-dollar citrus and vegetable crop would be saved from freezing by light winds. Miami recorded a chilly 45-degree reading at midnight.

Adding to the South's wintry weather was a light snow cover across parts of Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Alabama. Up to four inches of snow blanketed portions of Virginia and the high slopes of the Appalachian Mountains, forcing schools to close and causing dangerous driving conditions.

North Carolina was hit by both cold weather and flooding from the runoff of heavy rainfall earlier in the month.

The heaviest snowfalls occurred along the southeastern shores of the Great Lakes Wednesday and Wednesday night, and in parts of the north Atlantic states.

Southwestern Michigan was buried under more than a foot of snow in places, with Paw Paw reporting a 16-inch snow cover. South Bend, Ind., had a 7-inch snow accumulation. Hartford, Conn., reported 5 inches, and Newark, N. J., 3 inches.

Hazardous driving conditions added to the woes of New Yorkers, many of them forced to drive because of a subway strike. A light snow which began falling Wednesday afternoon glazed roads with an icy coating and authorities urged motorists to exercise extreme caution.

The United Press counted at least 18 deaths blamed on the weather, most of them in traffic crashes on icy roads. They included 6 in New England, 3 in Indiana, 2 each in Minnesota and Virginia and 1 each in Illinois, Alabama, Pennsylvania, North Dakota and Texas.

In Chicago, William Wohl, 48, attracted a large crowd when he took his daily swim Wednesday in Lake Michigan. The thermometer registered 11 degrees but Wohl reported "The water was warm, the air was comfortably crisp."

Low Temperatures Second Straight Day in Illinois

By United Press
A cold wave pushed temperatures below zero today for the second straight day in Illinois.

But forecasts called for a day "not quite so cold" and low readings tonight ranging between 15 degrees and the low 20s.

The Weather Bureau reported that Joliet had a reading of 2 below zero this morning. The city had a 1 below temperature Wednesday.

The temperature at Chicago dropped to 3, at Rockford to zero and at Dubuque, Iowa, across the Mississippi River, to 1 below. Peoria and Rantoul reported 4 above and Springfield 6.

In southern Illinois, Vandalia reported a low of 7, Belleville 11, Paducah, Ky., 10 and Evansville, Ind., 9.

11 Persons Die in Fires, Most Are Attributed to Overheated Furnaces

At least 11 persons have died in fires, most of them attributed to the cold wave and overheated furnaces.

Five died at Bardston, Ky., early today when fire destroyed a building at the Nelson County home for the aged.

Firemen said the victims apparently suffocated in smoke that filled the entire building. The fire fighters battled a water shortage and 10-degree weather.

Three children burned to death Wednesday night in a fire that destroyed their home in a remote area near South Shore, Ky. Mrs. Chas. Sowards said she was awakened by the smell of smoke and managed to shove two of her children out the door.

The blaze was believed caused by an overheated wood stove.

Three-year-old Johnny Lucius died when an overloaded coal heater started a fire at the home of his parents in Birmingham, Ala. Four brothers and sisters escaped. John Hodges, 81, a retired farmer, er, burned to death Wednesday night when flames destroyed his frame house near Russellville, Ill.

At Greenville, Tex., one man died and four persons were injured, one seriously, in a fire started when a gas main exploded Wednesday night in the Beckham Hotel. One of the injured was blown from a third-story window.

Fire destroyed three buildings in downtown Marshall, Mo., but no casualties were reported.

In Chicago, a search was underway for a firebug who has touched off 38 fires in the last week. Authorities said the pyromaniac has been active in two South Side districts.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transit Authority reported a marked improvement in subway service today at the beginning of the morning rush on New York City's fourth strike-crippled morning.

But its own figures on the number of motormen reporting for work gave no indication of a major break in the strike begun Monday morning by an independent motormen's union.

At 6 a. m. c. s. t., 339 of a scheduled 816 motormen had reported to work, 40 more than during the seven-hour period Wednesday beginning at midnight.

The authority said the figures did not include supervisory workers who were assigned to run trains. This assignment accounted for the improved schedule, a spokesman said.

The association representing the supervisors has moved in state Supreme Court to enjoin the Transit Authority from using its members as motormen.

The TA said express service would be restored for the first time on the Queens lines of the Independent system, stronghold of the striking union and hardest hit of the city's three underground systems.

Weather plagued both the subway system and surface travelers.

Snow and a freezing north wind glazed city streets and all high ways into the city, posing a new hazard for commuters who already faced a massive traffic snarl.

Subway crews worked thru the night salting and sanding to keep switches from freezing and remove the ice from doubly vital bus routes.

Bus maintenance men who had struck in sympathy with motormen returned to work in considerable number today, however, removing the threat of a breakdown in surface transportation.

No negotiations were in progress to settle the strike, called by the small Motormen's Benevolent Assn. to protest its domination by the giant Transport Workers Union. It appeared certain the TWU would win bargaining rights for all subway workers under the rules set down by the TA for an election scheduled for next Monday.

The strike, combined with the weather which went from rain to freeze today, has been a heavy blow to pre-Christmas business in the city. The heads of two major department stores, Macy's and Gimbels, rode the subway at noon Wednesday in an effort to demonstrate that customers could reach downtown stores.

The Transit Authority said the subway system was losing $400,000 a day—$250,000 in fares and $150,000 in bonuses, meals and other benefits being paid to "loyal" workers. The fares apparently represented the 15-cent tokens of about 1,700,000 missing riders who either took to the surface or stayed home.

Run by Fire Department
A run was made by the Harrisburg fire department to the 400 block on West O'Gara street at 4:15 p. m. Wednesday to extinguish a grass and weed fire.

Our Friends, The British

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

This time last year the historic alliance between the United States and Great Britain was in the worst shape in decades. It seemed impossible that the breach over Suez could be closed for years.

But as the important NATO parley in Paris approaches, the old ties have been substantially restored.

Britain very likely has not forgotten past differences. Yet it has nevertheless put them aside in the interest of the larger cause of saving human freedom.

Much of the free world took fright
when Russia launched its earth satellites. The United States, berated for boastful attitudes when it was ahead, was hammered with even greater vehemence for falling behind.

Britain, however, stood by us steadfastly. To emphasize her steady support in our adversity, Prime Minister Macmillan came to Washington to meet with President Eisenhower. Out of their talks grew the plan for the high-level NATO talks to Paris.

American and Britain were able to get together, too, on an arms aid plan for Tunisia. Although that angered France, it further warmed Anglo-U.S. relations.

Now, as this country speaks of placing intermediate range ballistic missiles on foreign bases, only Britain has thus far indicated willingness to allow this defense measure. It will do so, of course, at heavy risk.

These and other manifestations of British backing have led key Americans to look with new favor on a nation they had begun to downgrade sharply after the Suez fiasco of 1956.

In the tense days since Sputniks
I and II sailed aloft, we have had no firmer friend on this globe than Britain has thus far indicated will be given new health is excellent news for all free men who would resist the endless encroachments of dictatorial Russian communism.

It Came Upon a Midnight Clear---And Icy

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Lonely, Deter: 1 Dulles
Leaves For NATO; It Will Take More Than Weapons To Keep NATO Together; Franco Doesn't Want American Bases Unless We Have Some Defense Against Russian ICBM.

WASHINGTON.—An important allied ambassador dropped in to see John Foster Dulles shortly before he was to take off for Paris.
The ambassador represented one of our best friends in the West, and he wanted to see what plans the secretary of state had for keeping together the NATO alliance to protect the free world.

He found Mr. Dulles very much alone. On his desk were sheets and sheets of yellow legal paper.
It was the kind of secretary of state had used to write briefs as a Wall Street lawyer with Sullivan and Cromwell. He was still writing on the same paper—drafting not briefs but speeches and statements—very much alone.

No advisers were with him. No experts helped warn of the intricacies of European diplomacy.
He worked alone, his face stern,
his hair gray, his brow furrowed, scribbling scribbling on yellow sheets of paper.

John Foster Dulles presents a pathetic picture today, sincere, untiring, unrelenting, determined to live up to the reputation of his grandfather John W. Foster, who occupied the same cabinet chair under President Benjamin Harrison . . . yet pathetic because he is the most unpopular American in Europe. Despite that opprobrium, he is en route to Paris to keep the NATO alliance together after receiving its biggest jolt in history—the realization that the American weapons on which it depended for defense are inferior to Russian weapons.

Yet Mr. Dulles is basing his plans for a successful NATO not on economic and political policies, where the United States is strong, but on weapons, where the United States is momentarily weak.

REACTIONS TO "KAPUTNIK"
To get diplomatic reactions to the position of the United States following the Cape Canaveral fiasco on the eve of the NATO conference, this writer interviewed various key ambassadors. Here is what they said:

A Latin American ambassador:
"Watch what happens in Guatemala on the wake of the Russian Sputnik. You cleaned out the Communists. But on the heels of your failure and Russian success, the Communists will be back soon again. Remember, Guatemala is very near the Panama Canal."

"You don't realize what this failure does to your friends. The President of Panama, a friend of yours, may be out of office next month."

A West European ambassador:
"For 10 years we have been telling our people not to worry.
America has the strongest weapons in the world, she has the atomic bomb. What our people dread is getting in the middle of another war, sitting between two giants who are pounding each other—and us, because we give bases to you."

"You have to be in the middle of a bombing raid to realize our fear. You have to wake up in the night with the sirens shrieking. You have to bundle your children up and carry them down to the cellar. You have to see the awful glare of the bombs when they hit and wonder when the next will come your way."

"Only then can you realize what the American failure at Cape Canaveral means—and what John Foster Dulles faces. You are sending the most disliked man in America to Europe to save NATO at a time when we can no longer assure our people that American weapons are supreme and that they will be in our corner helping protect us."

Another West European ambassador: "The chief factor which has kept NATO together is Russia. Now the Russians are playing it smart. When your Sputnik went piff, the Russians didn't taunt you. That would have drawn Western Europe together behind you. But they were smart. They kept quiet."

A South European ambassador:
"France has served notice that Spain has to have better protection from the United States or else American bases will have to come out. He doesn't want Russian ICBMs or ICBMs dropping over Spain with no modern American weapons to stop them."

"That means about a billion dollars of American bases built in Spain may be lost—unless you can prove to the world that you have caught up with Russia."

"France has been more blunt than some of the rest of us, but no European country wants American weapons drawing Russian attacks unless those weapons are adequate."

That is a cross-section of European diplomatic sentiment as John Foster Dulles, lonely and tired, flies to Europe with his scribbled notes on yellow fool-cap, to try to save the Western alliance.

Call to Bid on Access Roads, Recreation Facilities at Devil's Kitchen Dam

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. — Congressman Kenneth J. Gray (D), West Frankfort, today announced that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has invited area contractors to bid on additional work in the Devil's Kitchen Dam area in the Crab Orchard Federal Wild life Refuge, Williamson County, Illinois. Gray said that bid invitations will be issued on December 12, 1957 and will be opened on January 17, 1958. He said the award will be made as a whole to one bidder.

Gray said the work includes the following principal features:

1. Clearing and grading for approximately 24.1 miles of roads, parking lots and trailer parks and surfacing same with crushed stone or gravel base course and double bituminous surface treatment.
2. Recreational facilities including concessions and quarters building, pump house, picnic shelter, boat house and docks, all of frame construction.
3. Concrete block septic toilet buildings and sewage disposal system.
4. Water supply system including new water supply well, electric driven pump, 220 gal. pressure tank, approximately 1,800 lin. ft.
of polyethylene plastic pipe, and hydrants.
5. Two steel girder type highway bridges with concrete deck and railing, pipe culverts, treated timber piling.
6. Approximately 15,600 sq. yds.
of dumped rock slope protection for beach.

Gray said that in addition to the completion of the dam itself, this work would make the Devil's Kitchen area accessible from any direction and would make the area another "Lake of the Ozarks." He said the Army Corps of Engineers now has available $3,300,000 he secured through Congress to spend in the area. This amount Gray said is enough to complete the entire projects including the dam which is scheduled for completion some time next year.

Illinois Inaugurates State Scholarship Program with Awards Up to $600 Per Year

"With our new state scholarship program, Illinois will take the lead in conserving and developing our most precious asset—brainpower," Lloyd S. Michael, Chairman of the newly formed Illinois State Scholarship Commission and Superintendent, Evanston Township High School, said today.

Illinois high school seniors will compete on February 1, 1958, for $600,000 in first-year scholarships to Illinois colleges and universities announced Dr. Michael. The Illinois High School Association is co-operating in this important program by clearing its schedule of all conflicting activities on February 1.

Science Research Associates of Chicago, a nationally prominent educational testing and consulting organization, has been retained to construct, administer and score the competitive examinations. The examinations will be held on college and university campuses throughout the state. Test results, and the students' high school records, will be used to determine capacity to profit from higher education.

The new House Bill No. 380 enacted by the Illinois General Assembly, provides scholarships for any resident of the State of Illinois of good character who will have completed high school by the end of this school year, is in the upper half of his class, who demonstrates superior capacity to profit from college work, and who is a sufficient number for residents of the state at large to use the remainder of the appropriation. Each scholarship is renewable without further competitive examination.

Dr. Smith's new appointment places him in charge of the first scholarship program directly financed by the State of Illinois. Until he can assume his duties, the Commission has retained Harold E. Temmer as Acting Director. Mr. Temmer is Associate Dean of Admissions and Records of the Chicago Undergraduate Division, Navy Pier, of the University of Illinois. Students not currently in high school should contact the Commission office in Chicago directly. Students who have had any college work are not eligible for scholarships. All students attending high schools are instructed to consult their high school office for an official bulletin and an application for examination.

Scholarships will begin with the 1958-59 school year and will cover tuition and other fees not in excess of $600. Winners may select any accredited institution of higher learning in Illinois.

The first-year scholarships will be awarded on the basis of two for residents of each Illinois senatorial district, two for residents of each representative district, and

Matter of FACT

The family background of the 19th-century novelist, Nathaniel Hawthorne, supplied plenty of material from which to weave his fascinating stories. Among his ancestors there was one who persecuted the so-called witches of Salem, Mass., the town where Hawthorne was born. Both his father and his grandfather were world sailors. Hawthorne's father died on a voyage to India when Nathaniel was four.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)
There is a heavy perfume of Christmas in the air. The plans for the season are growing in the minds of children and adults. We need a long period in which to prepare for the culmination of love and the gift of everlasting peace. The first Christmas was awaited for many months. In fact the Messiah has been expected for many years. The magi waited for a sign. The followers of John the Baptist were prepared for the coming of Christ. Many counted the days. Many expected the Messiah but few were ready when Jesus was born. As we look forward to another Christmas, we must prepare our selves spiritually as well as with material evidence of love. Our gifts should be bought with the price of self-sacrifice. They should be enveloped with the clear wrapping of sincerity. They should be tied with brilliant ties of fellow ships. And they should be presented as shares of love radiating with joyful pledges of peace and hope.

300,000 Ask License Plate Reassignments

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—More than 300,000 Illinois motorists took advantage of the law to have their 1957 license plate numbers reassigned for 1958, the secretary of state's office said today. Requests were received for low numbers, high ones, numbers representing addresses, telephone numbers, birth and wedding dates, poker combinations, numbers ending in zeros and others. Reassignment requests made before Oct. 31 must be honored under the law. Only about 250 of the four-digit plate numbers up to 10,000 were not requested for reassignment and there were more than 2,500 requests for these 250 available numbers. Reassignment requests account for about 98 per cent of the four-digit numbers, 95 per cent of the lower five-digit numbers and 85 per cent of the higher five-digit numbers.

Administration Preparing New Scholarship Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration is readying for Congress an education plan including a proposal for 20,000 scholarships averaging $50 a year to help bright students go to college. The aim is to assure a college chance for many of the nation's potential "brains" who otherwise would quit school to go to work. The theory problem still to be decided before the program goes to Congress is whether to offer the scholarship to all students or chiefly those in the scientific field. As now envisaged the scholarships would range from $50 to $1,000 a year and average $750.

Japanese Village to Honor U. S. Flyers

SAYAMA, Japan (AP)—Residents of this small village have dedicated a memorial tower in honor of two American airmen who sacrificed their lives to save a group of Japanese farmers. Villagers took this means Tuesday to thank Lt. Harry Elliott, of Lakeland, Fla., and Lt. John Friel, of Grand Junction, Iowa. The officers were killed last month when their B-47 crashed into the dry river bed of the Iruma River. It was believed they could have crashlanded safely in a nearby field, but they diverted the plane to avoid hitting the farmers planting barley.

Two Birthdays Celebrated

Farmers Are Reminded by Director of Reporting Change Under Social Security

Farm operators and farm workers are today reminded of an important change in the Social Security Law which went into effect on January 1 of this year. E. Bishop Hill, District Manager of the Harrisburg Social Security office, said this change affects the amount of farm wages on which social security tax must be paid.

Before 1957, farm wages were not taxable unless the farmer paid at least $100 in cash to one farm hand in the calendar year. Beginning with 1957, cash wages of less than $100 paid to one farm hand may be taxable for social security purposes.

This is true if a farm hand works on twenty different days in the calendar year for one farmer and receives cash pay for his work on a time basis, that is, if he is paid by the hour, day, week, etc. The total amount of pay in such a case is not material. For example, $20 paid to a worker for one hour's work on twenty different days during the course of the year would have to be reported for social security purposes. But, if a worker receives cash pay of $150 in the year, he must be reported for social security purposes, regardless of the number of days worked, Mr. Hill said.

Briefly, in 1957 a farmer must make a social security report to the Director of Internal Revenue for each worker to whom he pays $150 or more in cash wages for farm work. He must also report the cash pay of each farm worker who is paid on a time basis (by the hour, day, week, month, etc.) no matter how little he pays that worker, if he works on some part of twenty different days during the year.

Since many farm operators are employing additional help at this time, Mr. Hill stressed the importance of keeping accurate records of the total cash wages paid and the total number of days worked during 1957. "The name of the worker and his social security number, exactly as they appear on his social security card, must also be recorded if proper reports are to be made," Mr. Hill said. With this information available, the farm employer will be able to file a correct return of agricultural wages paid to his workers during 1957.

The tax returns for 1957 will be due by January 31, 1958. Farmers who filed tax returns for workers for 1956 will get blank tax returns mailed to them automatically. Those who did not file for workers for 1956 should now fill in a Form SS-4, Employer's Application for Identification Number, and mail it to the Director of Internal Revenue, Springfield, Illinois, if they have not yet done so. The Director will then put them on his mailing list to receive tax return forms and instructions. Form SS-4 may be obtained at any post office or by sending a postcard to the Social Security Office at Harrisburg.

A free booklet for farmers and farm workers is available at the Social Security office, Mr. Hill said. It explains how Social Security affects farm families. To get it, place your name and address on a postcard addressed to the Social Security Office at Harrisburg and ask for the farm booklet.

Seek to Enroll More Boys in Scout Roundup

Final efforts are under way in the 1957 Roundup of the Boy Scouts of America according to Frank Williams, Organization and Extension chairman of Sahara District, which has its headquarters at Herrin.

Through the 1957 Roundup, the Boy Scouts of America seeks to bring more boys into its Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units; to attract and train men of high character as unit leaders; to recognize successful boy leadership; to provide opportunities of service to others; and to recognize the part that good uniforming plays in the organization.

Mr. Williams said that the local council is eager to meet its responsibility to make certain that every boy who wants to join gets that opportunity. The Roundup this year is called the "Baden-Powell Roundup" honoring the founder of the Boy Scout idea, established 50 years ago.

Scouting is a movement organization and promoted for character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness of the boyhood of America. Its programs are used by churches, schools, community institutions, and service clubs, which receive charters annually from the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. These groups provide meeting places, trained leadership and moral support for their units.

Scouting has three different age-level programs. Boy of eight, nine and ten are enrolled as Cub Scouts whose program is home-centered and relates to their lives at home, school, and in the community and religious world.

Boys eleven, twelve and thirteen in Boy Scouting get busy learning outdoor skills—first aid, signaling, cooking and camping, while acquiring many traits of good citizenship.

Exploring, based on needs and desires of young men, is for boys fourteen and over. Together with the companionship and counsel of mature men, Explorers receive experiences in democracy, leadership growth, vigorous outdoor activities, vocational explorations, and self-discipline—in short, preparation for adulthood.

Since the organization of the Boy Scouts of America in 1910, more than 26,000,000 boys and leaders have been enrolled and have subscribed to the Boy Scout Oath and Law. Today's actively registered membership stands at 4,526,302 boys and leaders.

Eagles Drive To Protect Older Workers

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The Grand Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles has embarked on an all-out campaign to end job discrimination against workers over 40.

Grand Aerie Program Chairman, Judge Robert Hansen, in announcing the drive outlined the following program for national, state and local Eagle action:

1—Urge President Eisenhower to extend his executive order against discrimination in defense industries to include age.

2—Seek state and national legislation outlawing discriminations against job seekers based on age.

3—Insist that government as an employer set the pace by abandoning age limits for applicants for jobs in public service.

4—Carry on a broad educational campaign to secure the support of management, labor and the general public for job opportunities for older workers.

Hansen said that objections raised by many employers against hiring older workers are not valid. He cited a report by the U. S.

Labor Dept. which declared that mature workers are usually as good and often better than younger employees. A recent survey by the University of Illinois rated 51 per cent of older workers more dependable than young people and 43 per cent about the same.

This campaign of the Eagles, Hansen said, follows in the organization's tradition of supporting and fighting for the worker and his family. He cited earlier Eagle crusades for America's first workmen's compensation law, drafted in 1908, America's first mothers' pension act of 1911, the Old Age Pensions act drafted in 1923 and the Social Security act of 1935.

Ike to Fly to Paris Friday for NATO Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower held a final strategy meeting with the National Security Council today before heading for the crucial NATO "summit" conference in Paris.

The White House parley began promptly at 8 a. m. c. s. t. with the President presiding.

There was a possibility the U. S. would issue an official brushoff to Russia's latest proposal for East-West talks. State Department officials have labelled the Soviet maneuver an attempt to torpedo the NATO meeting.

The President, given an "excellent" bill of health by his doctors following his Nov. 25 slight stroke, will fly to Paris late Friday.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles planned to depart for the French capital shortly after the Security Council sessions. He will engage in some spadework to the NATO talks which start Monday.

The drama "NATO conference is designed to put new life into the 15-nation pact for drive to catch and surpass Russia's missile and other scientific feats.

To rejuvenate NATO Eisenhower and Dulles will carry a batch of ideas aimed at shoring up European defenses with missile-age weapons, increasing Western scientific teamwork and stepping up political coordination among the Atlantic pact allies.

Plane Crashes Into Parsonage, Two Injured

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A light plane, carrying two persons, crashed through the roof of the parsonage of the Westville Methodist Church today.

The pilot and passenger were removed from the wreckage inside the house by firemen and taken to a hospital.

They were identified as Paul Striberg, 32, N. Iman, Mass., the pilot, and Kenneth Robbins, 33, Framingham, Mass.

Neither was believed in critical condition.

They were on a flight from Bedford Mass., airport to Wilington, N. C.

In the house at the time were the pastor, the Rev. John Olofson who was in bed with flu, his wife and their 14-month-old daughter.

Showered with plaster as the plane penetrated the building over an adjoining bedroom, they ran out of the place with the baby and sought refuge with neighbors.

Storm Hits Destroyer

LONDON (AP)—A "tremendous" wave stove in the U. S. destroyer Manley's superstructure during a fierce storm between the Azores and northern Spain, the Navy announced today.

One man was killed and several were injured, the Navy said.

The Manley's captain reported to naval headquarters here that three of the injured men are in "critical condition."

All names were withheld until relatives are notified.

The storm hit the destroyer about 8 p. m. c. s. t. Wednesday, the Navy said.

The 2,100-ton Manley, based at Norfolk, Va., was en route to join the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. Its next port of call is Lisbon Portugal, where it is expected about 6 a. m. Friday.

A Navy spokesman said "much" of the ship's superstructure, including the deckhouse and galley bulkhead, were smashed by the impact of the "tremendous wave" and left open to the raging sea.

authorized by the AFL-CIO convention, and told him to use his judgment on granting a new charter.

The AFL-CIO also denounced the Senate Rackets Committee for "lack of fairness" and "political retaliation" in its investigation of labor-management corruption.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a force of about 5,000 Canadian national police, today rarely use horses for transportation. Instead, they use more modern methods of "always getting their man." Today, the force uses cars, motorcycles, trucks, snowmobiles, airplanes and even ships in fulfilling its responsibility of enforcing Canada's federal laws.

Predicts Plane Will Give Way to Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The deputy commander of the Army's ballistic missile agency said today "the air-plane, as a weapons system, will give way to the guided missile in the not too distant future."

Brig. Gen. J. A. Barclay made the prediction in a speech prepared for delivery to the National Security Industrial Assn.

He did not specify in months or years when he considers the "not too distant future."

The rocketing political controversy over who is to blame for the lag in missiles continued, meantime, with a Republican congress man protesting that the Truman administration failed to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) by 1953.

Inter-Service Differences
Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.) said the Democratic administration acted counte, to advice from General Eisenhower, then Army chief of staff. He said the country could have had an operational ICBM four years ago if the Truman regime had not cancelled test work from 1947 to 1951.

Senator Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) previously had said Eisenhower failed to recommend a ballistic missile program as chief of staff and that this was a primary reason for the delay.

Barclay's prediction that aircraft will be outmoded "in the not too distant future" underlined the sharp Army-Air Force differences over future weapons and strategy.

Gen. Nathan Twining, former Air Force chief of staff and now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said the H-bomb-carrying planes of the Strategic Air Command will continue to be the nation's main strategic weapon until the wide range of missiles under development are perfected and in production some years hence.

But Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Mickelsen, Army Air Defense Command chief, holds that "interceptor aircraft are obsolescent" now and that the Army's Nike missile "can reach and kill any bomber that flies today."

Emergency Landing By Airliner with 37 Persons Aboard

CHICAGO (AP)—A Trans World Airline plane made an emergency landing early today at Midway Airport with 5 crew members and 32 passengers aboard.

Capt. Seth Strachan, piloting the plane from Washington, D. C. to San Francisco, radioed to the airport at 2:55 a.m. c.s.t. that he was making the landing because one of the windows in the forward cabin had developed a crack.

Strachan asked for a crash crew to stand by because he still had the major portion of his fuel supply aboard.

Strachan landed safely, and within 20 minutes the crew and passengers were transferred to another plane and continued the trip.

Man Wanted for Illinois Slaying Is Arrested

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—An ex-soldier, wanted in Illinois for the bludgeon murder of a "girl friend" of his German war bride, was captured south of here Wednesday night as he drove north in a stolen car.

Robert W. Burson, 35, driving a car carrying Santa Barbara Calif., dealer plates, was accompanied by a 16-year-old Los Angeles juvenile, who admitted the theft of the vehicle.

Burson told highway patrol officers making the arrest, and later repeated to Richard Stacey of the San Luis Obispo district attorney's office, that he was wanted in Illinois, where he had escaped from the Geneva County jail. He said he was being held on a murder charge.

Burson said that he had "some time ago" returned to the United States with a German war bride and following a series of quarrels they had separated. Shortly after the separation, he said he had got drunk, entered her apartment and bludgeoned her to death a woman companion of his wife whom he mistook for the latter.

Burson was tried, convicted and sentenced to die in Joliet State Prison. His attorney appealed the case, was granted a new trial and Burson was returned to the Geneva city jail May 26.

He escaped from Geneva on Oct. 27 and had "hitchhiked and stolen several cars" during his flight to the West Coast.

Burson is being held here, pending word from Illinois authorities.

Bull Dogs Tackle Herrin Friday, Johnston City Saturday Night

Both Games Will Be Played in Davenport Gym

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs will be in action this weekend in friendly Davenport gymnasium where they have already won two games this season.

The Bull Dogs, with a 2-2 record, opened the season at home by defeating Carterville Nov. 29 and taking Eldorado the following night. The next weekend the local cagers travelled to Marion and Carrier Mills and suffered losses.

Starting another weekend at home Harrisburg hosts Herrin, defending state champion and presently ranked the number one team in the state. Saturday night the highly regarded Johnston City Indians come to Davenport gym.

Friday night's game will find the Bull Dogs facing the team that has been voted the best in Illinois in early season's play. Herrin has romped over three opponents to date, defeating Zeigler, Murphysboro and Johnston City.

Fine Conference Record

The state ratings show three South Seven conference teams near the top—Herrin first, West Frankfort third and Mt. Vernon eighth.

The conference, long regarded as a basketball stronghold, has compiled a fine 17-2 record against non-loop foes to date. The only losses were 56-54 by Centralia to Edwardsville and 57-55 by Harrisburg to the unbeaten Carrier Mills Wildcats.

Against non-league foes Marion is 5-0, West Frankfort and Mt. Vernon are 4-0 and Herrin 3-0.

Harrisburg will not be favored against Herrin, but fans feel sure the locals will put up a good fight. The Bull Dogs have gained many friends and followers this season by their fast-breaking type of play and uncanny shooting. The 2-2 record could easily be much better, as the combined difference in the two losses was only six points, dropping a 4-pointer to Marion, followed by the 2-point defeat at Carrier Mills.

Other Games

In the Saturday game, going on the record, the Bull Dogs will be a slight favorite over Johnston City.

In addition to the Herrin-at-Har-

Pettit Scores 43 Points

By United Press
Bob Pettit added another record to his National Basketball Association collection today and closed in on Detroit's George Yardley in the individual scoring record.

The 6-foot, 9-inch sharpshooter equalled a record for the Boston Garden by scoring 43 points in the St. Louis Hawks' 135-123 victory over the New York Knickerbockers to give him a total of 585 points for the season. Yardley, idle Wednesday night, leads the circuit with 601 points.

Pettit threw in 29 of his points in the second half to help snap the Knickerbockers' five-game winning streak.

Tommy Heinsohn's 26 points paced the Boston Celtics to a 116-104 triumph over the Cincinnati Royals and the Minneapolis Lakers downed the Syracuse Nationals, 110-95, in other games Wednesday night.

Cincinnati Best Fielding Team in National League

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy McMillan and Don Hoak were the key "sure catch" performers this year as the Cincinnati Reds topped the National League in team defense with a .982 fielding average.

The Redlegs, who also came up with the season's only triple play nosed out the World Champion Milwaukee Braves by a single point. The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals tied for third at .979.

McMillan led the shortstops with a .977 average and his 16 errors in 151 games established a new low for shortstops who played in 150 or more games. The old record was 18, set by Pee Wee Reese of the Dodgers in 1949.

Hoak, an ex-Dodger, led the third basemen with a .971 mark, committing 14 errors in 149 games.

Illinois Scores 91-75 Victory Over Butler

By United Press
Illinois' sophomore-reinforced sharpshooters are shaping up as a solid contender in the Big Ten with a racehorse strategy that lets the rebounds fall where they may.

The experts say the Illini can't go very far because they lack an essential good big man. But they're averaging 88.6 points for their first three games and Wednesday night they scored a 91-75 triumph over a Butler team that conquered Big Ten powerhouse Ohio State. The Illini beat Marquette, 100-90, and DePaul, 75-70, in their first two games.

Mannie Jackson, 6-2½ Illini forward, canned 13 field goals for 26 points while guard Bob Plump of Butler was game-high scorer with 31 points.

Michigan clobbered South Dakota State, 95-55; West Virginia whipped Penn State, 84-50; North Carolina State rebounded from its loss to Clemson Tuesday night to down South Carolina, 86-73, and Wake Forest ripped Texas A&M, 68-46, in other big games Wednesday night.

Pete Tillotson and George Lee bagged 18 points each as Michigan handed South Dakota State its sixth straight loss and its fourth in five nights.

West Virginia made good on 46 per cent of its shots on its Morgantown, W. Va., home court in its rout of Penn State.

In other games, Army beat Lehigh, 64-51; Cornell downed Colgate, 71-56; Harvard crushed Wesleyan, 89-41; Syracuse topped Columbia, 55-50; Boston University rolled over Massachusetts, 67-46; Navy topped Delaware, 61-50; and Holy Cross edged out Amherst, 55-52.

Dodgers Seek Use of Rose Bowl As Temporary Park

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The unpredictable Dodgers may spend the next two summers with the famed Rose Bowl as their temporary home grounds, but must wait until at least next Tuesday before learning whether the 100,000-seat stadium is available to them.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley appeared Wednesday before the six-member Pasadena board of directors to ask officially for use of the stadium as a temporary ball park, until a permanent stadium can be built in Chavez Ravine, or elsewhere.

The board meets next Tuesday morning to take action on the request. The Dodger chief also said the stadium would be needed for two years, since it probably would take time to build a new stadium once current difficulties over the Chavez Ravine site are ironed out.

NIT Dates Set

HAND-PICKED for MURDER By Robert Martin

THE STORY: Jim Bennett, a private investigator, has been assigned by his agency to the Howell case. Hugo Howell seeks to break off a romance between his son and Sandra Osterman. Jim believes they are already married, but agrees to check the woman's background.

When I came to the last cottage the path ended. I stopped, peered between the tree trunks and saw a grassy back yard, a minnow bucket beside a rear screen door, a low-slung canvas chair, a yellow navy surplus inflated raft. On the grass beside the chair were a green and yellow striped towel and a squat brown jar which I guessed contained sun tan lotion. I waited a moment, saw no one, and then walked across the grass to the back door of the cottage.

I rapped loudly on the screen door and waited. Receiving no response, I walked around to the front. I went up three wooden steps and rapped again. Nothing happened.

I gazed across the sand to the lake and sat there for maybe 10 minutes more, enjoying the sun and the breeze. Then I stood up, wondering if I should wait any longer. Maybe Sandra Osterman or her brother or Wayne Howell was on the beach in front of the hotel. I started around the cottage, but before I reached the corner I saw with a small start of surprise that the reclining canvas chair in the back yard was now occupied by a girl in a white bathing suit.

I recognized the girl I'd seen by the beach and started forward. When I neared the chair she turned to gaze at me. I said, "Good morning," and stood by her chair. Her legs were long and slim, smoothly tanned.

She removed the sun glasses and gazed up at me coolly. Her eyes were a deep blue, bright with an almost flinty glint, with tiny lines at the corners. She had a short, thin nose with delicately flaring nostrils. Her mouth was small, but she had made it appear larger and fuller by the skillful application of lipstick. She was 30, maybe older, but still an attractive and desirable chunk of female. And she knew it. "Good morning," she said.

Her lips curved in a faint smile and she leaned over to pick up one of the packages of cigarettes on the grass. The movement caused the suit to fall away alarmingly. She placed a cigarette between her lips.

I struck a match and held it for her. She drew on the cigarette, and then looked up at me through swirling smoke. I had the feeling that all of her movements were delicate, calculated, and decided that a strange man, any man, was her dish, to handle as the mood pleased her. "If you're looking for Vic," she said, "he won't be back until tonight."

"I wanted to see Wayne Howell. My name's Bennett."

She motioned toward the beach. "Wayne's down along the lake somewhere." Her lips curled a little. "Wayne dearly loves rock formations. And sediment. And fossils." She looked up at me. "I was sure you were someone to see Vic, someone scientific and boring."

"I'm not scientific," I said. "Maybe I'm boring. Who's Vic?" "My brother," she said. "Doctor Osterman. Not an M.D., but very scientific." She gazed up at the clear blue sky, gracefully poisoning the cigarette to her lips. She had a bathing beauty pin-up pose. "Didn't I see you up by the hotel a little while ago?" "That was me," I said. "I saw you, too. So you and Wayne and your brother are living here this summer?"

She turned her head and gazed up at me slantwise. "Did you think Wayne and I were living here alone?"

I knew by then, of course, that she was Sandra Osterman, the woman Hugo Howell called a scheming, greedy woman who, according to Howell, was interested in his pure and innocent son for the sole purpose of getting her hot little hands on the money in Wayne's trust fund. I said to her, "Why shouldn't you be living here with Wayne? You're married, aren't you?"

Her gaze shifted away from mine. She drew on the cigarette, and then said in an oddly strained voice, "who told you that?" "Wayne."

Still she didn't look at me, and a small frown appeared between her smoothly plucked brows. She smoked silently for a moment, and then laughed shortly and bitterly. "Well, well," she said, "here we go again."

"Beg pardon?" "You're another snooper, hired by the old man. The third one this summer, and I'm sick of it. So is Wayne. You'd better get out of here before he comes back." She flung the cigarette across the grass with a vicious snap of her wrist.

A screen door slammed behind me, and I looked toward the cottage. Wayne Howell was coming across the lawn toward us. The tan bathing trunks he wore were wet and his stocky, tanned body glistened with water. In one hand he held a black loose-leaf notebook. Without his dark-rimmed glasses he looked more youthful than ever. He came up to where I stood by the chair, squinting in the sun and frowning. His sensitive mouth was compressed and he clenched his fist.

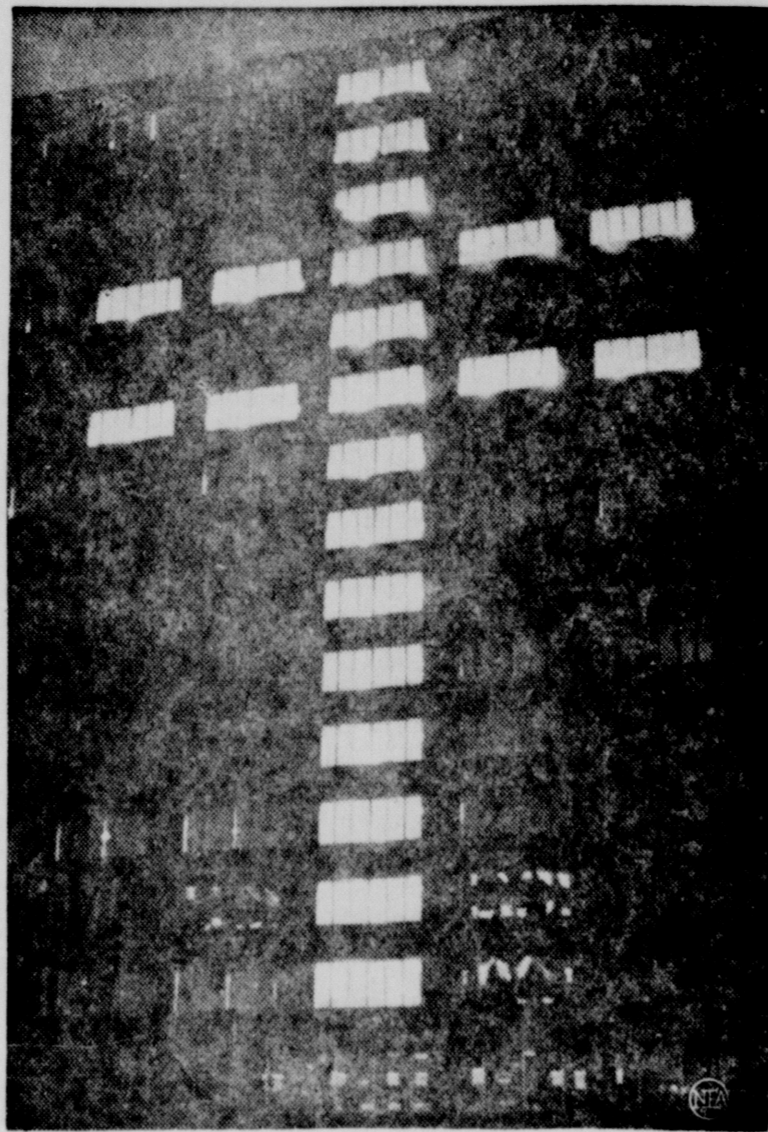

The woman said, "Hello, darling."

He didn't answer, seemed not to have heard her, and said to me, "What're you doing here?"

"I wanted to talk to you, Wayne."

The first known use of the name Oregon was in a petition to the British government in 1765 by Major Robert Rogers, a colonial military officer. He sought permission to lead an expedition westward from the Mississippi river to the river "called by the Indians, Ouragon."

SHINING SYMBOL—The largest Christmas Seal emblem in the United States glows like a beacon of hope in Harrisburg, Pa. The building is the 16-story State Labor and Industry Department structure, newly erected in the state's capital city. The cross effect is achieved by leaving the lights on in certain offices while others are blacked out.

Safety Conference Urges Strict Driving License Requirements

WASHINGTON (AP) — A public officials traffic safety conference today backed unanimously stricter driving licensing requirements to curb slaughter on the highways.

The conference, sponsored by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety, also recommended that safety be taught in the schools from an early age the same way "we teach the Bible in Sunday School."
